BONNIE DOON COMPOSITE
Edmonton, Alberta

The Tam O'Shanter
for 1962-1963 is dedicated to all those students who have helped make this school year so successful -- students who have participated in Scholastic, Club, Athletic, and Administrative Activities. It is through their untiring efforts that this year at Bonnie Doon has been such a memorable one. To these people we present the Tam O'Shanter with the hopes that this year at Bonnie Doon has been enjoyable, worthwhile, and challenging.

Bonnie Doon's fifth year has come to a close, and you, another group of graduates, will make your final leave of our school.

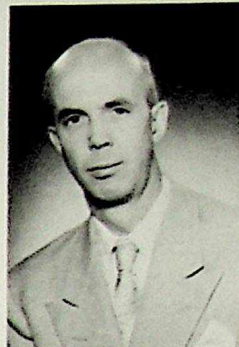

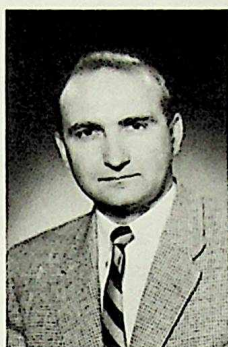

Watching you depart, I wonder how much we have helped you, and what you have done for yourselves. I also wonder how the members of your community measure the worth of our school - by its size, its facilities, its staff or program? All these elements are important, but in my opinion the citizens of Edmonton can best judge Bonnie Doon by the quality of its graduates.

If you have mastered the mechanics of our language and number system; if you have acquired an insight into the historical background of our society; if you have a broad understanding of science and its influence on human affairs; if you have met the educational requirements of the school, then you have earned a diploma. Education is not the grades you make but what you retain when you leave, and the diploma is merely a passport to the world of adult affairs. I hope yours will serve you well.

Because to say good-bye is to forget, as the school doors close on you for the last time, I shall merely wave and wish you well, for it has been a pleasure to have you as a student at Bonnie Doon.

EDITORIAL

"The play is done; the curtain drops
Slow falling to the prompter's bell:
A moment yet the actor stops,
And looks around, to say farewell.
It is an irksome word and task;
And when he's laughed and said his say,
He shows, as he removes the mask,
A face that's anything but gay."

-- Wm. Makepeace Thackeray

With the conclusion of the 1962-63 school year, the curtain drops on another act of life for some four hundred graduates. For those students of grades ten and eleven, this is merely the closing of another scene, with one, or two, more scenes to be enacted in high school. Though gaiety and sighs of relief accompany the climax of twelve hard years of school, we are all, like the actor, secretly or not, very reluctant to leave the many friends we have made among staff and students in our years spent at Bonnie Doon. Leaving them, we will be obliged to fill a void. It won't be easy. But with new acts unfolding in each of our lives--new friends, new tasks, new problems, and new conquests will present themselves. Through all this, the pleasures we have experienced as Doonites will not soon be forgotten.

We hope this Tam O'Shanter will recall to each of you, memories of the events we all enjoyed throughout our school year--the exciting, the exasperating, the silly, and the serious. Each is a moment we don't want to forget, and we hope this yearbook will bring a chuckle, a sigh, a tear in recalling these memories.

We wish to thank each of the persons involved in the production of this annual. Mr. Tymchuk, who did so much to advise us, can never be repaid for his efforts. Without the aid of Mr. Holditch, who supervised photography, our Tam O'Shanter would greatly be lacking in spirit. The leadership of Mrs. Thompson helped us to correct our split infinitives and any tragic grammatical errors. "This here book just ain't what it woulda bin without 'em."

And to the assistant editor, Camille LeRiche, department editors, and each of the helpers who gave their noon hours and long hours after school to help us meet the deadline--a big thank you.

Preparing this book involved much hard work but it all was fun. We hope that you get as much pleasure out of reading and rereading as we did in publishing Tam O'Shanter '63.

CLASS HISTORY

Tripping, in some cases not so lightly, through the hallowed halls of Bonnie Doon for the past three years, each of us accumulated a unique collection of memories just as each of us has left etched indelibly upon the annals – if not the desk tops – of Bonnie Doon some brief testimonial to his passing. But, as no two of us have participated to exactly the same extent or have shared precisely the same experience, the Class History must present a composite picture and deal solely with the highlights of school life. This then is a mere survey of events but, we may make it more personal by inserting our own experiences amid the generalities and by emphasizing those areas that are especially meaningful to us as individuals; thus, the history of the entire graduating class may become the history of each member.

Sportswise, this year saw the culmination of our athletic ambitions when a Bonnie Doon rink swept undefeated to the Dominion High School Curling Championship, climaxing Bonnie Doon's past achievements on the local and provincial sports-scenes with her first National laurels. In addition to the roaring game, Bonnie Doon sportsbugs have drawn on their apparently boundless store of energy to excel in football, track and field, basketball, tennis and badminton, and the many sports in Houseleague competition.

With flourishing art, music, and drama clubs and a highly successful school orchestra, the life of a student at Bonnie Doon has also been culturally complete. Under the capable direction of Mrs. Polley, drama club members have presented for the student body and the general public a wide variety of fine entertainment ranging from suspense-filled one-act plays through the Shakespearean comedy of "As You Like It" to the light-hearted humour of this year's Broadway success, "You Can't Take It With You".

With delegates to the Council of Presidents and Vice-Presidents and to the Second Clubs Conference, Bonnie Doon continued to play an important role in interschool affairs. One of our students was head of UNEDAS this year and several Doonites attended the United Nations Model Assembly.

As hosts, the students and staff combined to make the Third Edmonton Regional Science Fair one of the best organized and most successful Science Fairs ever held in Edmonton. In addition to organizing the affair, the Science Club entered several exhibits, one of which was placed first in the group projects category.

With upwards of fifteen official clubs, extracurricular activities continued to figure prominently in the life of Bonnie Doon's students. The fact that the Booster Club was by far the largest is a sound indication of the school spirit among us.

This year two new institutions have made their debut. The first of these innovations was a Paper-back Book Store operated by students exclusively for the staff and student body. Dealing in everything from novels and science fiction to reference books and biographical sketches, the book store conducted a brisk trade with the many students who sought to stock their own private libraries with good books at reasonable prices. From its inception in October the bookstore and its niche in the alcove became a favorite noontime retreat for literary-minded students who congregated there each day to browse and to discuss a diversity of topics from books to politics and from mathematics to theology.

The second newcomer to the noon scene was the first session of the Bonnie Doon Model Parliament. The four day event, held in early April, was an exciting climax to weeks of preparation and hectic political campaigning in the form of posters and speeches. Our first experiment with Canadian parliamentary procedure was a great success and it is to be hoped that it will be repeated in the future.

As may readily be seen from even this brief survey of the past year, Bonnie Doon has had much to offer us as students. Whether we were inclined to physical activity, to public speaking, or to cultural pursuits, we have been well satisfied in our High School years, and our three years sojourn at Bonnie Doon may well be summarized with the school motto 'Optimum quique' – the best for each.

VALEDICTORY

Tonight marks the culmination of one phase in our lives. We have gathered here for a threefold purpose: first, to look back on twelve years of schooling; second, to say thanks to the many people who have guided and influenced us during that period; and third, to consider once again what lies ahead. The last is probably the most important since it deals with that unknown quantity, the future which like all unknown quantities is a problem to be solved.

During these few years of learning, we have formed several opinions and estimates of our schools. There was a time when school was that mysterious building into which the lucky older children disappeared. But soon, we ourselves discovered the secret held with the school walls; and taught by the scientific method to discard any false theories, we formulated new opinions and different ideas concerning this building. As we look back, what do we see? Hard, diligent, unrelenting search for knowledge — how wishfully we picture each school year! Social gatherings, athletics, classroom frolics, and a little learning — what a contrast the truth really makes!

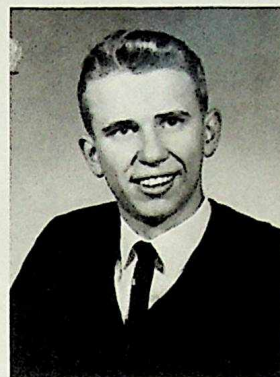

For twelve years now we have faced a group of people who both educate and misinform, who sometimes confuse as well as enlighten, who teach not only self-reliance but also dependence, and who disseminate both ideas and dogma. Consequently we should have a most precious asset, that of discrimination and selection. To these people, then, who tolerated our rowdiness, our inattention, and our obtuseness, whether with sympathetic rebuke or disciplinary action, we of Class '63 offer our grateful thanks and appreciation.

Possibly a valedictory would not be a valedictory without its cliches describing the future: a crossroads consisting of both a rocky and a smooth path, the threshold of adult life, or the apex of our dreams. As one graduating class follows another, these phrases become more and more numerous while original wording tends to diminish. The world, too, has been reduced; and the role of the individual is becoming more specialized and more concentrated in smaller areas. Now we are compelled from necessity to acquire not only the basis of an education but also very specific training and knowledge for very particular aspects of each profession and occupation. The grand challenge which we face, then, is to adapt ourselves to the rapid pace of a specialized world, while at the same time retaining our own individuality.

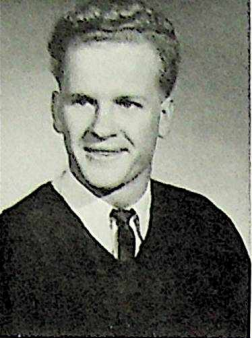

Vale means farewell, and we must soon take our leave from high school and from Bonnie Doon. We have reached the point in our lives where the future is omnipresent. Previously the end of a school year only meant the beginning of another. But with university for some, vocational school for others, and business for still others, we definitely do face the future. We are truly grateful to the many people — teachers, parents, and classmates alike — who have made such an opportunity possible. If any of us hope for the elusive quality sometimes called greatness, we shall have to remember William Wordsworth's comment concerning the substance of great men:

"The heights by great men reached and kept
Were not attained by sudden flight,
But they, while their companions slept,
Were toiling upward in the night."

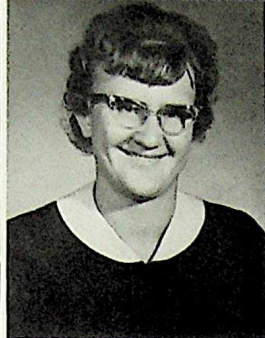

But whatever our ambitions or our dreams, we can now attempt that problem, the future. Thus Class of '63 bids "Vale and farewell."

Student's Union

STUDENTS' UNION

Jim Johnson
President

It has been my privilege to serve Bonnie Doon in the capacity of president of the Students' Union. It has been a most rewarding and unforgettable experience.

Unlike previous councils, this year's has been particularly active in discussion. Room representatives have presented the views of the students well. For this reason and for their participation in school affairs, I extend my thanks to them.

Limited time and space were two hindering factors which caused council to lose much of its discussion period, but room reps. worked well despite these setbacks.

The members of executive, table officers, and board representatives have worked diligently to bring you the activities and services you enjoy. Many of the tedious and routine jobs also were carried out by the executive.

Readers will probably be bored with "pats on the back" conveyed in this and other messages in the Yearbook. However, I know executive and council could not have functioned properly without the liberal advice, co-operation, time and work given us by Mr. R.V. Clark. I should like to pay tribute to a man who respects and considers carefully the views of students.

Bonnie Doon has acquitted itself well in high school athletics, fine arts, and academic achievement. We students owe a debt of gratitude to the enthusiasts who upheld and furthered the reputation of our school.

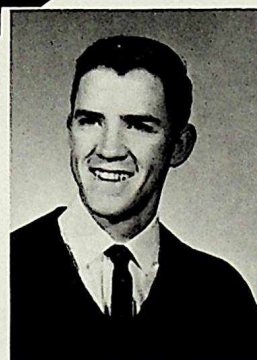

Mr. Ward's administrative and teaching staff, and Mr. Kirkwood's caretaking staff have co-operated with council to the fullest. We must realize that Bonnie Doon's extracurricular activities could not exist without their help. On behalf of the Students' Union, I thank them.

Our school is young with little tradition. I am grateful to you, the students, for establishing useful precedents which I hope will be followed in future years.

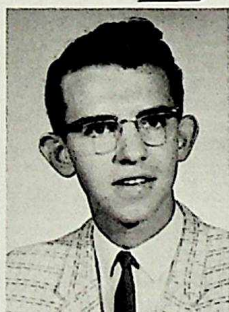

Thank you for electing me and for making my task as pleasant and as rewarding as it has been. It has been my honor to serve you.

The best three years of my life! This is how I feel about my stay at Bonnie Doon. To many like myself, high school is a stepping stone toward higher learning and nowhere else could you find a firmer base to a good education than at Bonnie Doon.

Each successive year seems to supersede its predecessor and this year is no exception. School spirit and sportsmanship continued to expand and mature at a rapid rate. All of our relatively old traditions, such as the Students' Council luncheon meeting, were upheld to the letter.

It has been a very great pleasure both to go to Bonnie Doon and to serve as vice-president to the Students' Union. This is an experience that I will not soon forget, and I wish the best of luck to all future students and members of the Students' Union.

I know that I can always look back with pride and say, "I went to Bonnie Doon."

1. Get yourself a few tight sweaters or take a hot bath wearing your present wool outfit.
2. Buy the highest heels you can find. They'll do a world of good for those dumpy legs of yours, girls.

LITERARY CONTEST

FIRST PRIZE ESSAY

Poplars and Clover

by Curtis Megaw, Gr. X.

I was in grade two that year. On the north of the school was a sprawling clover patch engulfed by a prison of stately old poplars. The thought of adventures with two friends in this haven of nature still stands a silhouette in my mind.

We loved the poplars and clover. On warm summer days we would scale the withered trunks of the trees, using each gnarled old branch as a footing for another step into the sky. We fought through a mass of green, velvet leaves held in a sleepy lullaby; the top would loom in sight, nothing but the deep blue beyond. Below, a thousand entangled limbs once beckoning us upward, now reached to drag us down. We knew we could land with a sickening snap of a back, into their embrace, but that small gnaw of fear pulling on our stomach was not enough to keep us from reaching the top that bent under our weight. We shouted a hundred war-whoops into the sweet air – air laboured down with the fragrant smell of the clover far below – we swung like a pendulum on the needle top of the tree. When at last the triumph of the feat wore off we slipped down with half the effort of the climb – into the clover patch. Ten thousand blossoms of white clover each flecked with a dash of brown, unfolded before us as we crashed to the ground and stared around. They were as perfect and beautiful as a field of white roses – hundreds of bees tested the succulent liquid in each flower. We would sneak up in sticky T-shirts wet from sweat that trickled down our hot necks, in patched running shoes, and dirty faces, to jam a jar over one with a yellow and brown, or gold and black body. It would amble up the side of the jar – funny how they could manage such a speed with six legs – and it would peer at us with as much interest as we watched it. Sometimes we would catch a bee in our hands to be stung. We padded the swollen flesh with a bit of mud, for we knew that mud would take away some of the pain. The story that went with the mud outlined by a ring of red would impress friends we happened to tell. A huge swarm of bees once flew by over-head, probably searching for a new home, and we marvelled at their size and one of the wonders of nature seldom seen. Little did we realize that our life in the poplars and clover would soon change – shattered like a dropped piece of crystal, very soon.

In the spring of that year, when the clover began to flower and the trees broke into an array of green – birds singing in their branches, the news came. A school was to be built on our beloved clover patch – and shortly afterwards a work crew arrived. They pushed over the trees, they rolled over the clover, birds sang no more in the branches, bees did not move in the clover. We pried strips of twisted bark off the dying trees – we made canoes, but our clover and trees were gone, gone forever.

Most people do not know the poplars and clover even existed. They did – and the adventures I had, existed too. Knowing they are gone leaves me sad, but knowing the happy memories that the school is leaving and shall be leaving in the years to come dulls this sadness. The school is our school – Bonnie Doon – the poplars and clover are its foundation.

SECOND PRIZE ESSAY

The Difficulties and Joys of Being a Teen

by Lee Johannesson, Gr. XI.

Have you ever looked at a rosebud, and then at a clump of stinkweed, and wondered what would come of it if the two were made into one? Well, some chap did just that, and do you know what he invented? A teen. I personally have met a teen. I am writing this essay about her to tell everyone that the group she represents is not a monstrous concoction (as it would seem), but a real crowd of people with real difficulties and real joys.

Since our teen was not yet an adult, she had to attend school. School is where many of her difficulties began. Getting and keeping high marks was not easy for her. Some of her friends were having the same difficulties, and they were giving up. "We all have good jobs," they told her. "Why should we stay in school wasting time?" Our teen knew what a good education would do for her in future years, but she didn't want to stay behind now. Indecision brought to focus another of her difficulties – keeping up with the crowd. Since all her friends were very fashion conscious, our teen was too. She had to have a new sweater because Suzy had one. And it wouldn't have done to wear old slim-jims when everyone else was wearing ski-pants. But where would the money come from? Ah! Another one of those nasty little problems. However, this time Mom and Dad entered the Picture. Mother would say, "But dear, you do have a job." And our teen would cry, "But Mother, I have to pay for my lunches and books and bus tickets and just everything. And I do lots of housework." Then father, with a gem of a phrase, "I'll never understand teen-agers." That last statement just about summed up this teen's wagonfull of problems – misunderstanding. She was too young to go out unchaperoned, but too old for a babysitter. Whatever she did was either too babyish, or too grown-up. Reason told our teen that there must be a happy medium, but it was certainly hard to find.

Still life wasn't all stormclouds and rain. There was a light side to this story. Only our teen could screech herself hoarse at a basketball game one night, and, in a strapless gown, waltz across a ballroom floor the next. Only she could brighten those tedious hours of school with such activities as swimming (who could drown more gracefully?) and tennis, which invited all sorts of opportunities for feminine wiliness. But such gay frivolity alone did not characterize our teen, by any means. How she welcomed those few moments she had to herself. What a wonderful change just to read, or play records, or write poetry. How delightful to sit back and think about last summer and her favourite beau.

Well, there's the teen I met. Like it or not, she is real, and believe it or not, she is normal.

FIRST PRIZE POEM

The Awakening

by Jennifer Holt, Gr. X.

Perhaps it was because we were in
The Spring of our lives,
That the urge to explore the freshness
Of the world of nature, during its age-old
Season of birth
Entered us.
We wandered into the blossoming innocence
Of another world,
Where sin and sorrow have no place,
Where the miracle of life is King,
And the beauty of life is Queen.
The snows of Winter had just vanished,
And the shrivelled, dark-skinned
Leaves of Autumn lay in forlorn, little puddles Everywhere.
Gradually, the sun's potent penetrating power
Sought out, and did away with, the last of Winter's bitterness.
The secret shadows sulkily succumbed
To the charm
Of the sun's warmth and in their place,
The beginnings of Life stirred.
We thrilled to the sight
Of the young plants struggling up
Through the rich layers of decayed matter, their
Clear green skins defying the dark, dull soil
And everything else sullen and secret,
That had no place in this World of sweet awakening.
The reverent hush wrought upon the forest
Was broken
By the gentle pattering of the Spring rains
Upon the pleasantly moist earth.
After these dewey downpours
From Heaven
The air smelled deliciously damp
And as we wandered along old trails,
And broke in new ones,
The pert little leaf buds saucily bombarded us
With droplets of moisture.
Even the brook, which gurgled its way
Through swirling whirlpools;
Babbled its way over sun-warmed shallows and Trickled its way over, under and into, secret passages
In the smoothly-worn rock,
Even it seemed to sing with joy
As the Spring months
Matured into Summer.
By that time
The trees, the paternal denizens of the woods,

Had unfolded their hard, stormy green buds,
And had, it seemed, raised their heads
A little higher,
As if to proclaim the air of beauty
That the slender-stemmed leaves
Lent to the forest.
The woods were wild with riotous patches
Of color
Bright among the scaly trunks of the trees.
We did not pick the blossoms.
It was as if we were in a different World
And when we left the woods, a
Pitiful handful of dead flowers
Was a poor substitute for our hideaway.
Many of our happiest hours were spent
In straying through patches
Of gaily dancing daisies;
Or lolling in grass waist-high
And dreamily watching the clouds sail
Through a sea of azure;
Or coming unexpectedly
Upon a rare tiger-lily
Blossoming up from a royal
Bed of moss, its petals drooping gracefully
To the ground, as if to try and gather to itself
The treasure of each perfect day.
Or wandering into a cool, shady dell,
Filled with shy, little bluebells,
Their velvety softness catching the clear evening dew
In which was reflected the summer sunset, a myriad
Of dazzling hues,
Some staining the sky with a blinding display
Of color;
Others, barely tinging the horizon, but
With a radiant glow that shone through
The summer sky;
Or lying under a towering tree
With its stretching arms drawing
A cooling shade over us, and watching
The gold-flecked leaves sway softly
High above us;
Or eating fat, juicy blueberries
Until our hands and lips were dyed a deep purple;
But gradually, the mellifluous movement
Of the brood told us
That Summer had once again served its Purpose and its Time.
And as we lay in our favourite
Spot — under the majestic oak;
And watched the dusky leaves

Kiss the earth in a tearful
Farewell to summer;
And felt the autumn sun barely piercing
The thick foliage above us

We realized that we had seen the glory of the world
Through the eyes of friendship – our friendship
Which, just like Summer, had been born, had matured
And would eventually fade away.

What Girls Think About School

by Jonette Anderson, Gr. XII.

Classes go in and classes go out,
The teachers don't know what we're thinking about,
Little they know that, from day to day,
While they're trying to teach, we are far, far, away.

"Side opposite over the hypotenuse."
-- "He doesn't like me, so what's the use?"
"Shelley believed in an immortal fate."
-- "There's a dance Friday night, and I don't have a date."
"Adam Smith and his 'laissez-faire'."
-- "My dress didn't come, and I've nothing to wear!"
"1789: the great Paris riot."
-- "Tomorrow I've just got to go on a diet."
"Characteristics of Lady MacBeth."
-- "An hour till noon and I'm starving to death."
"x squared plus y equals a over b."
-- "Hope Mom lets me go to that slumber party."
"Buoyant force on a body exerted"
-- "Imagine! Telling me that I flirted!"
"Cet enfant a mangé tout ce gâteau."
-- "Wonder if Anne's still going with Joe?"
"Vitamin D from rays of the sun."
-- "Wonder where Lynne got her hair done?"

And so it goes on and they don't have a clue,
That schoolwork is not the sole thing we do.
We'll never reform; 'cause when all's said and done –
Though they don't understand, this day-dreaming is fun.

A Tribute to Bonnie Doon

by J.G. Niddrie

The halls are filled with mirth and joy
That emanate from growing boy,
And sprightly girl both bright and coy,
At Bonnie Doon.

Now come the classes through the door
To add to wisdom's mental store
In wondrous land of bookland lore,
At Bonnie Doon.

The classrooms filled are all astir
With merry pupils, all are there
With smiling face and debonair,
At Bonnie Doon.

The teachers now with solemn face
Arrange the desk, blackboards erase;
Urbane they are with cultured grace
At Bonnie Doon.

'Tis here that friends and love abound,
And loyalty is all around,
Sincerity and truth are found,
At Bonnie Doon.

O, happy throng, whose youthful years
Have tasted not the cup of tears
That come with life's corrosive fears,
O Bonnie Doon.

These happy years will soon depart
That fill the mind and warm the heart,
And help us all our lives to chart,
At Bonnie Doon.

Ten Commandments

1. Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy fellow students.
2. Thou shalt not labor unduly, lest purchase when examinations come, thou findest thyself prepared and filled with knowledge to overflowing.
3. Thou shalt not kill time standing in the halls.
4. Thou shalt honor and obey thy teachers, lest thou be'st cast out of the room.
5. Thou shalt not talk back to the teachers.
6. Thou shalt not covet thy neighbour's books, nor his pens, nor anything that is thy neighbour's.
7. Thou shalt not skip classes, lest thou shalt get detention.
8. Thou shalt not chew gum.
9. Thou shalt not make unto thee in the halls any graven image, or any likeness of anyone or anything that is in thy mind, lest these barbaric symbols be cast into the icy deep.
10. Thou shalt not act boisterous and rough on the E.T.S. lest a "people-watcher" be watching you.

SENIOR FOOTBALL

 THIRD ROW: Bill Holobuff, Bill Moberg, Ken Ebling, Bob Booth, Jim Cameron, John Statler, Ron Shymka, Ken Gamble, Bill Briggs, Moe Shandro, M. Whitnach, B. Warnich.

The 1962 football season was a very successful year for Bonnie Doon. Although the record does not seem to bear this out, the Lancers could quite conceivably have won the championship. With some better luck, this could have been carried out. The Seniors had a 4-3 win-loss record and their season's play is indicated as follows:

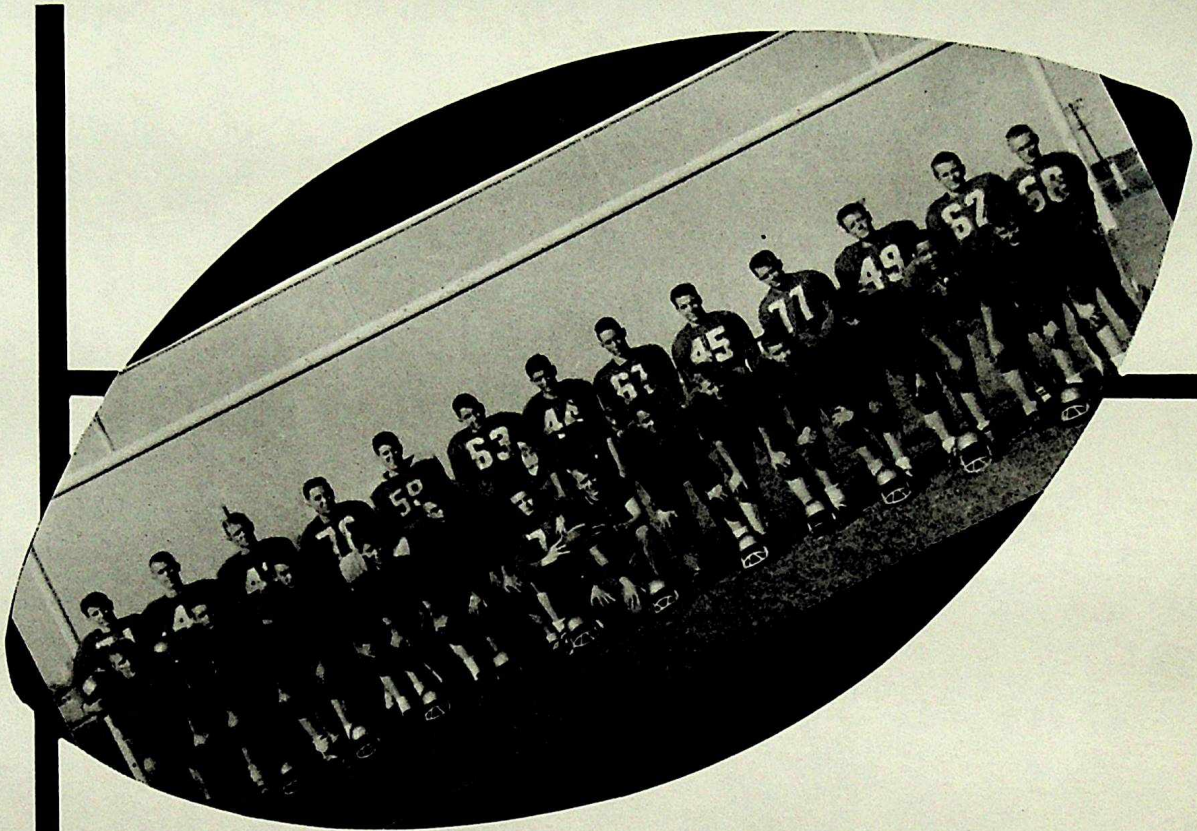

B.D.	6	Ross Shep.	14
B.D.	13	Jasper Place	1
B.D.	26	O'Leary	0
B.D.	38	St. Joseph	13
B.D.	24	St. Mary	32
B.D.	13	Queen Elizabeth	14
B.D.	23	Scona	0

As one can see, the Lancers lost 2 games by one point and the other by 8. In the Ross Sheppard loss, the T'Birds punted a ball out of their end-zone in the last minute of play to preserve their win. Against Queen E., Doon's secondary was unable to return a kick into their end-zone and thus the Knights got their winning point. The loss to St. Mary came early in the game as two fumbles in the first five minutes resulted in a 12-0 lead for the Angels.

With second year grade twelves returning and a nucleus of up-coming grade eleven students, the Seniors have an excellent chance of winning next year.

A very good feature about this year's season was the good weather for the fans. Another was that the Lancers had relatively few serious injuries. The worst was to Jim Downie, who had a cartilage removed from his knee. This injury will prevent Jim from playing next year and will hurt the Lancers.

JUNIOR FOOTBALL

SECOND ROW: Russel Rozylo, Gary Wilson, Larry Lerbekmo, Vic Harke, Robbie Renolds, Fred Sturdy, Gary Corbett, Captain; Jim Bridge, Bruce Wakeford, Ken Short, Bob Enstrom, Ken Beleshko, Fred Mitchell.

For the first time in the Junior Lancers' history, did they have a good year. Their five wins to one loss won them second place in the League. Their only loss was attributed to Ross Sheppard, who eventually won the city junior title. Ross Sheppard scored the winning touchdown as B.D. fumbled near their end zone. The final score was 15-12.

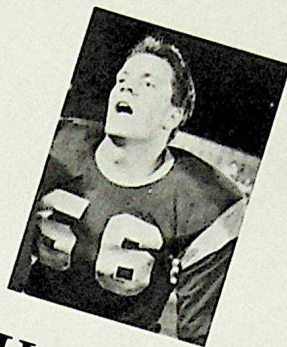

Defensively, the Juniors were the best in the League as they had three shutouts in winning five games. Players like Ken Short, Gary Corbett, and Norm Adams will certainly help the Seniors next season.

The future in sport events certainly looks bright for next year and all B.D. graduates hope that the Lancers will continue to do a good job for their school.

FIRST ROW: Lorne Sawula, Larry Lerbekmo, Randy Spencer, Jack Braun, Tanner Elton, Dave Wright.

SECOND ROW: Ken Eberling, Ben Urner, Ron Shymka, Ken Short, John Hasselfield, George Bassek, Mr. Bright, Coach.

SENIOR BASKETBALL

The B.D. Lancers ended up in third place in the Edmonton High School League. Their won-lost record was a good 10-5 losing twice to Vic and Ross Shep and once to Eastglen (39-37).

In the Invitational Tournament in Calgary, the Lancers won their first game against Calgary Boness 61-45 before losing to L.C.I. Rams, 58-38, in the semi-finals. Beside picking up valuable basketball skills, all members of the team had a wonderful time at the Currie Army Barracks at which they stayed.

Some of the bright spots during the recent season, came as B.D. defeated the St. Joe's team by a score of 71-37, establishing a new record for points scored in a single game by a Bonnie Doon team. Randy Spencer didn't quite win the high scoring title, losing to Tim Kallal of Ross Shep by a score of 235-232.

JUNIOR BASKETBALL

The B.D. Junior Lancers did even better as they only lost two games out of fifteen. They lost both games by a couple of points in the dying minutes of play. This year the Juniors had a strong bench which could score just as easily as the starters. Half way through the season, Dale Cahoon, who was averaging about 18 points a game, became ineligible; however, the Lancers kept on winning until they had secured a birth against the Victoria Redmen for the Junior Championship. Victoria was three points up and had won their fourth consecutive crown.

Many of the players such as Ken Lombaert and Dale Cahoon will return next year to play on the Senior team and it is hoped that their fine showing this year will continue next year.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

INTERSCHOOL VOLLEYBALL

Senior and Junior Volleyball teams started the year off with a tremendous boom! Both teams ending up in the city playoffs. The Juniors, guided and worked to the bone by Miss Yamomoto, found it all worthwhile as they were handed the City Championship. The Seniors made third place with the help of Lindsay Anderson and Maryanne Krauchuk's "spiking" Mrs. Cuts, as Senior coach, did a terrific job (even with Rae and Joan talking incessantly!)

INTERSCHOOL BASKETBALL

Basketball season was one of constant battle! The Seniors almost made it to the top but St. Mary's team seemed to have some sort of "system" which kept working against us. But, next year "Watch Out!"

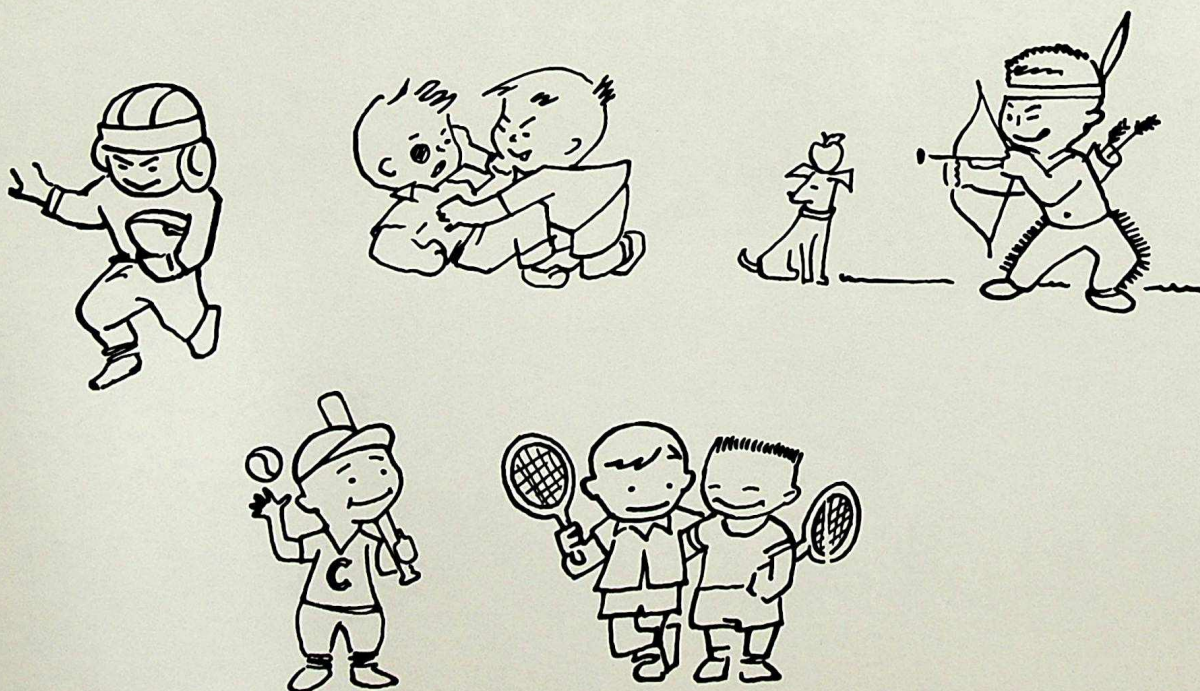

A big thanks is given to our fabulous coach, Miss Yamomoto (alias "Beany") who easily became "one of us".

The team will really notice the absence of both Diane Farris and Gerry Creasey next year. These girls have not only added to the strength of our team, but have contributed to the gaiety which predominated at practise. We will really miss them.

Although we'll be missing Diane and Gerry, we have an excellent bunch of girls coming up. Bonnie Stewert, Joyce White, and Linda Stott are just three of the girls which have been the backbone of the Junior team this year. Charging through the season losing only one game, the Juniors fought to the last second in the City Championship. Second place was a terrific ending to the season but next year, we'll take that cup, won't we.

HOUSELEAGUE ACTIVITIES

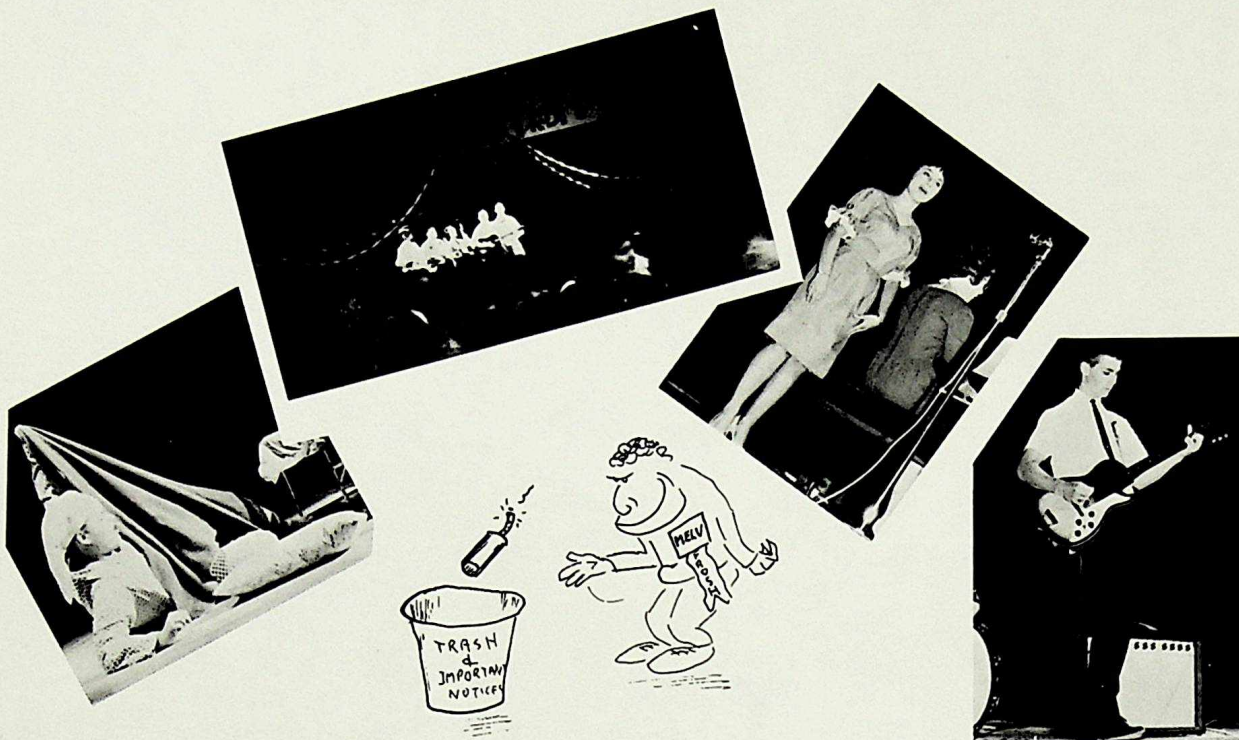

Enthusiasm was increased for Houseleague events this year through the able leadership of Mrs. Dent. Milk Carton Bowling immediately "took" and gained many supporters. The gym was filled with ardent bowlers each bowling day. Some of the girls took the opportunity to "bowl over" the volunteer pinsetters which was sometimes more fun than bowling the cartons over!

WELCOME FROSH

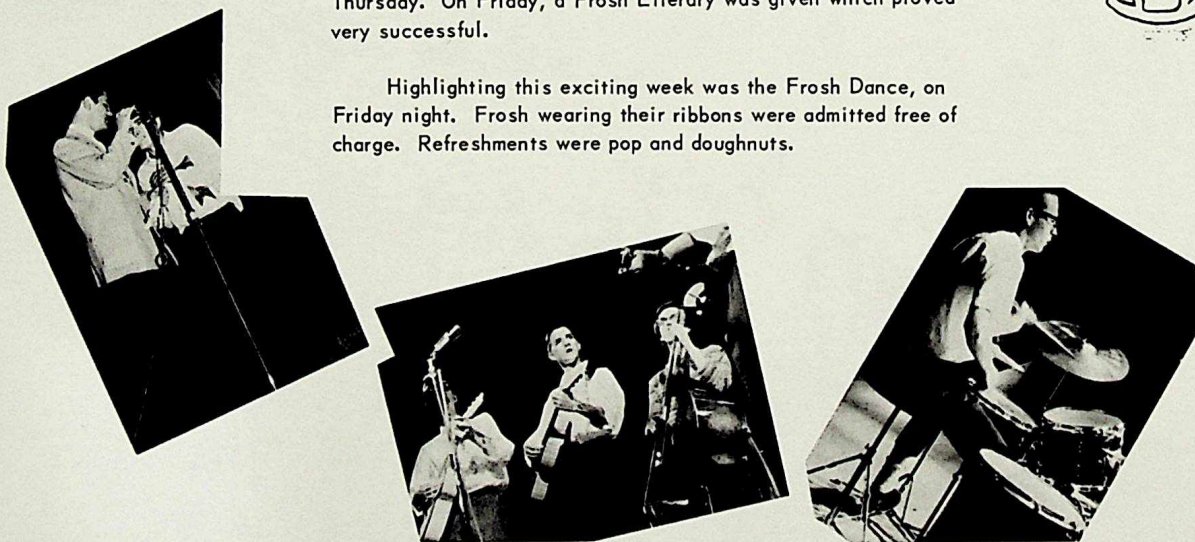

Bonnie Doon Frosh Welcome Week began on September 12, during the second week of school. Frosh were given and requested to wear a Frosh ribbon. This ribbon gave the person's name and indicated by color his House.

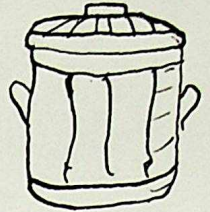

Many events were planned to inform the new students of the many extracurricular activities. Wednesday noon was devoted to Clubs' Day. A representative from each club gave a short report on his club's purpose and function. Sports' Day was held on Thursday. On Friday, a Frosh Literary was given which proved very successful.

Highlighting this exciting week was the Frosh Dance, on Friday night. Frosh wearing their ribbons were admitted free of charge. Refreshments were pop and doughnuts.

ALLEY RALLY

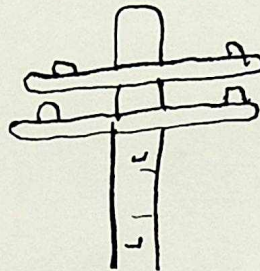

-- Amid ash cans, clothes lines and dim street lights Doonites enjoyed the fall dance, "Alley Rally".

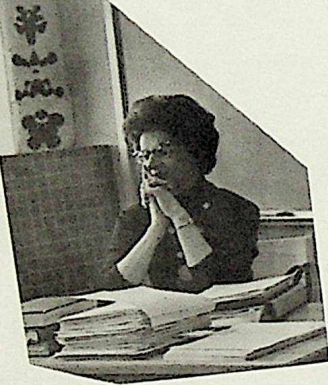

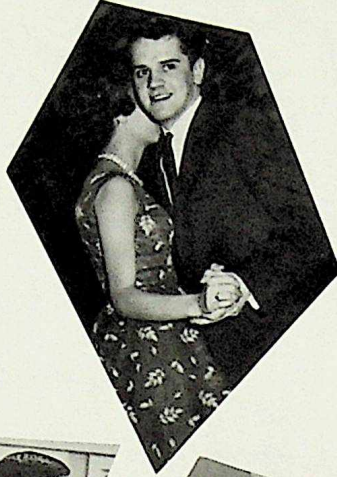

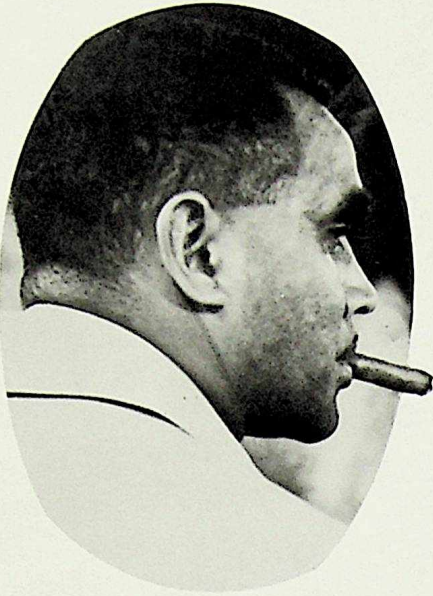

-- Attire ranged from sweat shirts, sneakers, and cut-off jeans for boys and girls.

-- Music by the Nomads added to the evening's success.

-- An assortment of fancy pastries and pop added to an enjoyable evening.

MAGIC MOMENTS

Magic Moments recreated the memories of 1962 to some 600 Doonites and escorts on January 5. The walls were decorated with posters reminiscent of past dances, yearplays, and other events. The popular Nomads, with us once more, were as great as ever.

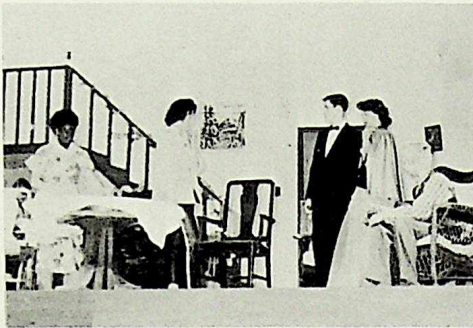

Entertainment was provided by the Dance Club, Ron Harbottle and Karen Wells doing the Tango, and Gloria Fald and Bill Griffith doing the cha-cha. Faye Seto sang her rendition of "I Only Have Eyes For You". Tangy fruit punch and fancy pastries were served.

SPRING SWING

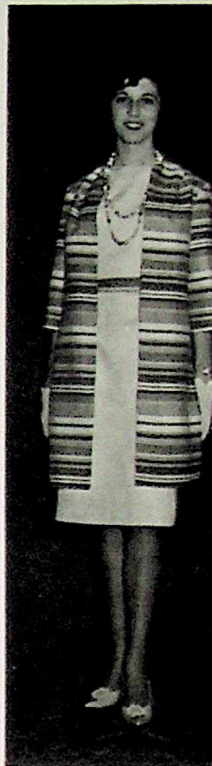

Streamers in Lavender Blue, table decorations of spring flowers, and blue lights with silver motifs created the setting for the last school dance, "Spring Swing." The Rebels added to the evening's entertainment and to the theme with "Tulip Twist", "Waltz of the Roses", and "Bonnie Bounce". A special congratulation goes to the Assemblies Board for their work on "Spring Swing."

GRADUATION 1963

Graduation 1963 set a new precedent for graduation festivities. Replacing the traditional banquet, a beautiful and moving graduation ceremony was held in the velvet plush surroundings of the Northern Jubilee Auditorium on May 24. Some 1300 parents, friends, relatives and sweethearts viewed the Exercises.

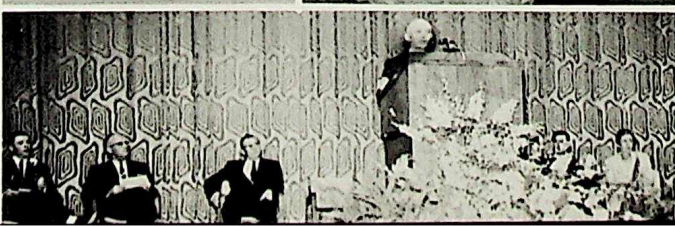

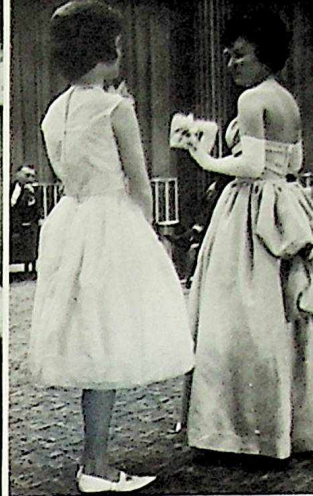

A flood-lit Recessional of winsome lasses with polished beaus was followed by "O Canada" in the invocation, and remarks by "Mr. Bonnie Doon," Mr. H. Ward. Mike Ellis related the history of Bonnie Doon's fifth graduating class, recalling to minds both gaiety and sadness of the three years spent by our graduates within the walls of Bonnie Doon. Dave Sagert, Bonnie Doon's Glenn Gould, presented a piano selection. The guest speaker, Rev. Bev Johnson, gave many long remembered words of encouragement to students and added to the evening's enjoyment with both humour and dignity. Valedictorian Terry Davis advised each graduate to set his goal and forever aim to its fulfillment.

A presentation to each graduand of a souvenir program was beautified by colored lights, which complimented the pretty pastels of the girls' formal gowns as they made their way among the beautiful floral arrangements of the stage. "God Save The Queen" was followed by the Recessional, after which a formal dance was held.

Debutants and escorts, together with parents, teachers and friends danced the night away to strains of tango, cha-cha, rhumba, fox trot and waltz. The evening was highlighted by the presentation of the Proficiency Award trophy to Bonnie Doon's most outstanding all-round student.

To many, the dance was just the beginning of a memorable night of candle-light dining, and weiner roasts. In the wee hours of the morning, weary Doonites, exhausted but happy, made their way home.

The Grad executive and its advisors deserve a vote of thanks from each graduand for the splendid job in making Graduation '63 such a memorable occasion.
